Q. Paint touch ups don't perfectly match the surrounding areas, why?

A. The paint kit provided and paint codes are for subtle and small area touch-ups. A painted area, even if only 6 months old will age, especially in a sunny spot (fade), and the touch up may be noticeable. This is common. You may just have to repaint the whole wall. It's the only guaranteed way to ensure that damaged paint or a patched wall won't stand out

The paint kit provided and paint codes are for subtle touch-ups. When touching up a wall, realize that the paint will wick at a different rate than the original top coat. Reproducing the exact wicking rates each time you paint is virtually impossible, therefore some touch ups will be noticeable and again, is common.
